

Legal rights are powers and claims given to people by the laws of a country to keep everyone safe, equal, and free. Key examples include the right to equality, freedom of speech, and protection under the law. [\[1\]](#), [\[2\]](#), [\[3\]](#)

Key Features of Legal Rights

- Made by Law: Rules written in constitutions, acts, or court orders create these rights.
- Backed by Courts: You can go to court to protect your rights if someone breaks them.
- Equal for All: Laws apply to every person in the same way. [\[1\]](#)

Common Types of Legal Rights

- Equality: Fair treatment for all people with no bias for race, sex, or caste.
- Freedom: The power to speak, move, and live your life safely.
- Justice: The ability to get help from a lawyer or a judge if you face harm
